ARAB TROOPS INVADE JEWISH STATE

MEAT PACKER PICKETS CLASH WITH TROOPS

Defy Armed State Guardsmen at Plant of Swift Co. in So. St. Paul.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15—A wedge of 600 National Guardsmen, helmeted and with bayonets fixed, swept the streets clear of an unruly crowd estimated at 500 persons in front of the strikebound Swift & Co. packing plant here today. The troops were formed as the crowd gathered to boo and shout catcalls as workers entered the plant through lines of guardsmen. Col. Lester Hancock, troop commander, ordered the formation an hour after reading a proclamation to the crowd from a sound truck. Hancock said through the loudspeaker that any assembly of more than four persons over a large area of downtown South St. Paul would be considered unlawful.

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15—Fighting broke out between National Guardsmen and pickets today when striking CIO packinghouse workers openly defied the heavily-armed troops.

The pickets shouting taunts at the soldiers, and jeering non-strikers grumblingly opened their ranks to allow some officer and supervisory workers to enter the Swift and company plant.

Then they closed them and dared the guardsmen to do something about it. They at first indicated they would obey guard orders to allow non-strikers to enter the plant in accordance with a court injunction.

The fighting broke out when guardsmen attempted to escort several workmen into the plant.

"Are you going to let those scabs in?" a workman shouted. A lieutenant nodded.

Three pickets stepped in front of a car attempting to pass through the gates. An armor-plated halftrack rolled up to the gates and the lieutenant and a captain ordered the pickets to step aside.

The two officers, aided by four enlisted men with rifles, tried to place the pickets under arrest.

Soldiers Point Guns

Strikers rushed in. Soldiers pointed their rifles at the crowd to keep others from joining the fight.

The pickets were defiant despite leveled rifles, submachine guns. Under a direct order from the officer in charge, there was no firing.

Embittered pickets grappled with officers and enlisted men who sought to place them under arrest for ignoring orders to clear a road to traffic.

Fist-fighting broke out and it was not until the guard rushed in reinforcements that they were able to subdue three pickets arrested on the spot.

Cries of "Hitler" and "dictator" went up from the crowd.

The fighting ended after a few minutes and the three pickets who originally defied the captain were placed under arrest and hustled off to the city jail.

It was the fourth straight day of picket-line violence here and at nearby Newport, Minn.

The guard units—approximately two battalions in all—rolled

Father Flanagan, Boys Town Founder, Dies in Germany

MSGR. FLANAGAN

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, May 15—Msgr. Edward J. Flanagan known throughout the world as the father of Boys Town, died at an Army hospital today after a heart attack. He had been inspecting facilities in Germany for the youths he loved so well—regardless of nationality.

The 61-year-old Nebraska priest—famed for his creed "there is no such thing as a bad boy"—was stricken last night at Harnack house, an American military government residence for visiting officials.

Rushed to the 279th station military hospital, he failed to respond to oxygen and special heart injections, physicians said. He died at 2:05 a. m. (7:05 p. m. Marion time, Friday).

Catholic Army Chaplain Emmit J. Walsh administered last sacraments at the famed priest's bedside when death came. Father Walsh said he "died peacefully and in prayer."

Championed Underprivileged

Father Flanagan, who has championed the cause of underprivileged boys for more than three decades, went to Vienna last March to study Austrian youth conditions. During his stay he was received in Rome by Pope Pius XII.

Later he came to Germany at the invitation of the U. S. Army. In 1947 he made a similar mission to Japan.

The Nebraska priest founded his world renowned home for needy boys in 1917 on the outskirts of Omaha. Originally it was a little house which he rented by borrowing $90 in the Christmas season.

Boys Town has since grown into a busy community. Incorporated in 1936 it is now listed in the U. S. Postal guide.

Father Flanagan gave sanctuary to boys accused of crimes ranging from petty thievery to murder. He pleaded in many courts for custody of the youths—contending that proper environment was the most effective antidote for curbing juvenile delinquency.

Contacted Famed Persons

Father Flanagan's efforts in the cause of youth have brought him into contact with famed persons in many lands.

On his tour of Japan he called on Emperor Hirohito. He also conferred with Empress Nagako on welfare work for Japan's children. Later he went to Korea at the invitation of the U. S. Army.

The priest made a previous trip to Europe in 1946 when he and his brother Rev. P. A. Flanagan, visited their native Ireland. They were welcomed in Belfast by a crowd of 50,000.

Hollywood produced a film on Father Flanagan's life in 1936. It was called "Boys Town."

City of Boys Mourns Benefactor's Death

By The Associated Press

BOYS TOWN, Neb., May 15—This city of boys today mourned the death of the man who had given them a home.

Wide-eyed and grave, their daily work and play all but forgotten, they turned to prayers in the boys town chapel last night as word came that Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Flanagan, world-famed founder of this haven for homeless and neglected boys, had died of a heart attack in Berlin.

Earlier reports had warned that Father Flanagan was ill in Germany. Father Edmond C. Walsh, 33, acting director of Boys Town walked into the chapel last night after receiving reports of his death and found boys already quietly gathering.

A few minutes later, Father John Farrald, himself a graduate of Boys Town High school, led them in rosary.

The junior-senior prom, scheduled for tonight, was cancelled.

Meanwhile Rt. Rev. Msgr. Nicholas H. Wegner, acting president of the board of trustees of Boys Town, announced Father Walsh would remain as acting director, until a meeting of the board. The meeting will not be held, he explained, until Archbishop Gerald T. Bergan returns from Australia in about a month.

RESCUERS SAVE TWO MINERS

Third Still Trapped in Water Blocked Passage of Pennsylvania Operation.

By The Associated Press

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 15—Two of three miners trapped for more than 60 hours in a water blocked mine passage 175 feet below the surface were rescued alive today.

Edward Heck, 42, and Peter Gordon, 35, both of Shamokin, were brought to the surface at 5:46 a. m. and immediately rushed to Shamokin hospital. The third miner, Charles Bashore, 42, also of Shamokin, was missing somewhere in the shaft of the independent mine.

The men were given first aid treatment in an abandoned mine, wrapped securely in blankets and lashed to boards. Ropes were lowered and the boards pulled to the surface.

The miners were trapped in the rain-drenched shaft late Tuesday and it wasn't until late last night that contact between feverishly working rescuers and the entombed men was made.

Pete Lazarski of Kulpmont and Louis Bogetty of Coal township said they waded through five feet of water to reach a point in the passage where they were able to talk to the trapped men, Edward Heck and Peter Gordon.

"They told us they could see our light and wanted to try to swim out," Lazarski said.

"We told them to stay where they were and we would try to push a raft through to them," Bogetty added.

Asked about the whereabouts of the third miner, Charles Bashort, Gordon said, "he's in the sump." It was explained that the sump is the foot of the mine where ordinarily water gathers. Gordon's reply indicated Bashore may have drowned.

Man Found Dead In Jail Cell at Bucyrus

By The Associated Press

BUCYRUS, O., May 15—Hiram Eggleston, 76, arrested last night on an intoxication charge, was found dead early today in city jail.

Mike Lynch, 73, told police Eggleston, father of several children, fell and struck his head against the bars of a cell door. Coroner O. R. Kackley of Galion planned an investigation and possible autopsy.

U.S. WEIGHS POSSIBLE END OF ARMS BAN

Truman Studying Question of Permitting Shipments to All Middle East.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 15—President Truman is studying the question of lifting the United States embargo on arms shipments to the entire middle east, a White House official disclosed today. The embargo has been in effect since last December.

Lifting of the arms ban affecting the entire area would permit Arabs as well as Jews in the new Jewish state of Israel to buy weapons in the United States.

The White House source, who declined to be quoted by name, at first mentioned only Palestine. Later the official broadened this to say the entire middle east was involved.

Not New Proposal

This is not a new proposal, however, he emphasized to reporters. He said the arms question has been under continuing study and is still under study. It is not something that has been pulled out of a hat, he explained.

The official said the matter of the U. S. exchanging diplomatic representatives with Israel also is under consideration.

The fact the government is studying these two steps followed President Truman's announcement of U. S. recognition of the state of Israel late yesterday. Mr. Truman's action came almost immediately after the Jews had proclaimed the birth of their nation in the Holy Land.

U. S. recognition was on a "de facto" basis—that is merely recognizing such a state exists. This differs from "de jure" recognition which involves exchange of diplomatic representatives with a legally constituted government.

Embargo Since December

An embargo on shipment of arms was placed in effect last December. It covered the entire middle east.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, told reporters the President's action in recognizing the provisional government of Israel was "not a matter of snap judgment."

He said Mr. Truman had had the action in mind a good while. He added that it is "impossible to fix a time-table on the approaches to a decision."

Call Truce Chief Goal

Diplomatic officials previously had said possible lifting of the ban might be considered. However, they indicated main American efforts would be directed toward winning a truce in the Holy Land dispute between the Jews and Arabs.

Mr. Truman stressed this objective in a statement issued last night with his announcement granting "de facto" recognition to the provisional Jewish regime.

"The desire of the United States to obtain a truce in Palestine will in no way be lessened by the proclamation of a Jewish state," The White House statment said.

SEES STEEL STRIKES OF 50,000 WORKERS

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, May 15—CIO President Philip Murray said today more than 50,000 steelworkers may be on strike before the end of the year.

Murray told a convention of the CIO United Steelworkers that between now and December contracts covering 107,000 steelworkers will expire with steel fabricating plants, and added:

"It is reasonable to assume that 50 per cent of them will be fighting with their backs to the wall to preserve their union."

Murray said such workers might be faced with idleness because of "the strikes they might be forced into in the coming year."

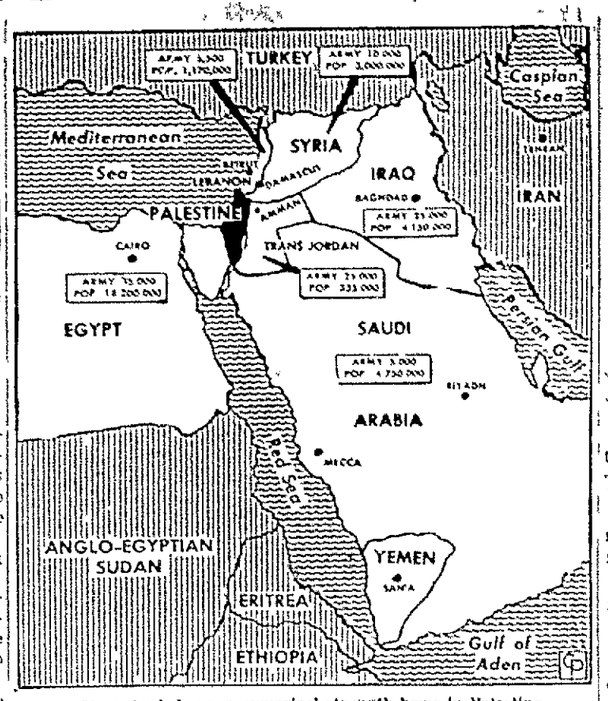
The CIO president, who is head of the steelworkers, made this statement in appealing to the delegates to raise the union's monthly dues from $1.50 to $2 to prepare for "these crucial days."

The nearly 3,200 convention delegates yesterday amended the union's constitution to bar Communists and "consistent supporters of that party" or "any Fascist, totalitarian or other subversive organization" from holding any office.

OSU EDITORS NAMED

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 15—Lee R. Adams of Mansfield has been named editor of the Ohio State University daily newspaper, The Lantern, for the 1948-49 year, Dr. James E. Pollard, director of the school of Journalism, announced today. Named to the position of managing editor was John B. Baker of Canton. Both are juniors in the arts college.



Vast Arab League numerical strength hems in Palestine.

SEVENTY THOUSAND well-equipped Jews against 100,000 Arab league troops is the apparent one-sided contest for Palestine. The Jewish Haganah Defense numbers 60,000 and the other two Jewish organizations, Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern group number nearly 10,000 more. Of the Arab league only Yemen is not expected to contribute armed support against the Jews. Both sides claim additional support from recruiting among Palestine's two million population and from outside. The Arabs claim 10,000 guerillas already fighting the "holy war." Both sides vow a savage struggle to the last gasp.

N.Y. Jews Celebrate Birth of New Nation

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 15—Jews young and old, danced in the streets and the blue-and-white flag of Israel fluttered from thousands of New York windows today in celebration of the new Jewish state and its swift recognition by the U. S. government.

Throngs gathered throughout the city as the state of Israel was proclaimed in Tel Aviv yesterday. They crowded the brownstone offices of the Jewish Agency for Palestine and overflowed onto the street in front.

In Times Square early today, hundreds of youthful Zionists continued their round of celebrations as they sang and danced and exchanged glad cries of "Mazeltov"—good luck.

UN ENDS FUTILE PALESTINE TALKS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 15—Surprise American recognition of the new Jewish state of Israel overshadowed today the failure of the United Nations to do anything about the Palestine crisis.

An emergency session of the 58-nation general assembly adjourned last night after four weeks of fruitless debate.

The only affirmative action taken was to authorize appointment of a UN mediator for the Holy Land. This man, to be selected by the big five, will seek to bring together the Arabs and the Jews for peace.

In its final hours the assembly was thrown into confusion by President Truman's announcement of American recognition. The Jews were jubilant; the Arabs shouted they had been duped.

Main Chapters In Palestine Story

Dec. 11, 1917—Gen. Sir Edmund Allenby's forces entered Jerusalem after British conquest of Palestine, ending 500 years of Turkish rule.

July 1, 1920—British civil government set up in Holy Land.

July 24, 1922—British mandate in Palestine confirmed by League of Nations.

Sept. 29, 1923—Mandate officially placed in force.

Nov. 29, 1947—United Nations general assembly voted to partition Palestine and set up independent Jewish and Arab states.

March 19, 1948—United States UN delegation withdrew support of partition plan.

May 14, 1948—The new Jewish state of Israel was proclaimed. British troops left Jerusalem. British High Commissioner Sir Alan Cunningham boarded a British cruiser at Haifa, signaling the end of the British mandate, effective at midnight. Jewish troops fought for control of Jerusalem. Arab states massed forces for invasion.

May 15, 1948—Arab organized armies entered Palestine. Severe fighting was in prospect for the new Jewish state.

Enemy Forces Across Border After Air Raids

By The Associated Press

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, May 15—The newborn Jewish state of Israel began a fight for its life today and, its army said, came under two air raids before it was 10 hours old.

The Jewish army Haganah announced today "invasion troops" have penetrated into Israel following air attacks on Tel Aviv and a settlement in the Negeb area.

The Haganah announcement gave no details on the reported ground invasion nor on the air attack against a settlement in the Negeb, the southern desert area.

"At least one plane has been shot down," the announcement said. "Its pilot an Egyptian, has been taken prisoner."

Raids Three Hours Apart

Bombs were dropped and ground objectives were strafed with machinegun fire by the attackers, it added. The raids came about three hours apart.

Earlier reports said that in the first bombing, three to six light planes took part and one person was killed and six wounded.

(An official source in Cairo said Egyptian air force planes flew over Tel Aviv today and dropped pamphlets demanding that all inhabitants surrender with their arms, raising white flags within an hour.

"If the demand is not met," the pamphlets were quoted as saying, "you will be treated as aggressors who want fighting.")

In Haifa, leader of an Israelite independence celebration said late yesterday a Haganah radio message had been picked up claiming Jerusalem had fallen to the Jews.

This report was without confirmation from any other source.

Censorship Imposed

Military security censorship was imposed starting today in Israel.

In the first Tel Aviv raid, some bombs fell near the electric light plant.

The bombing came at 6 a. m. of Israel's birthday. The new nation came into being by its own declaration of independence, a minute after midnight, the hour the British dropped their 31-year-old rule of the Holy Land.

The raiding planes were described unofficially as Spitfire or Spitfire-type fighters. They came in low, dived and dropped six bombs at the edge of the Tel Aviv airport, near the power station. Airport workers said Jewish fighters drove them off.

Persons in the neighborhood said they believed the casualties were caused by one bomb that hit a small building. Tel Aviv was blacked out all night, but no shells wounded for the raid.

Jewish Troops at Frontiers

Haganah, the Israelite army, rushed troops to frontiers to fight off any attack and last night ordered a blackout in Tel Aviv, the world's biggest all-Jewish city.

In Haifa, Haganah sources said Jewish troops had surrounded Arab Acre to the north across a bay, on the coastal route from Lebanon.

Inhabitants of Haifa, which is Palestine's biggest port and is now largely in Jewish hands, heard cannon and mortar fire and saw gun flashes from Acre.

EGYPT REPORTS INVASION OPENS

Mechanized Units Destroy Village, Go Northward, Says Dispatch.

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, May 15—Egypt announced that two columns of her mechanized troops and artillery crossed the border into Palestine today, destroyed a Jewish village and speared northward toward Gaza.

The ministry of defense said Egyptian planes bombed the military airport in Tel Aviv, Israel's temporary capital, destroying a hangar and one DC-3 plane on the ground. Egyptian planes also scattered propaganda leaflets over Tel Aviv.

A high spiritual leader of Moslems here called upon all Arabs to bring holy war to Israel against the Zionists, saying:

"Be ready to die for Allah."

The foreign office announced that Foreign Minister Ahmed Khashaba Pasha handed notes to the foreign ambassadors, including the American, Russian and British envoys, outlining Egypt's views on her intervention in the Holy Land.

Streets Patrolled

Steel-helmeted police patrolled Cairo's streets. The entire country is under martial law, proclaimed last night by King Farouk to safeguard troop movements. The king promised that Egyptian Jews who remain loyal to the government will be protected.

The weekly Akhbar El Yom said 600 persons, mostly Zionists, were rounded up and sent to concentration camps.

An Arab league spokesman assailed United States recognition of Israel as "a strange move coming so quickly after the United States announced abandonment of partition of the Holy Land."

An official source said Egyptian air force planes dropped pamphlets over Tel Aviv today, calling upon Jews in that capital of the new Hebrew state of Israel to surrender.

Arms Surrender Demanded

The pamphlets, printed in Arabic, English and Hebrew, said: "We don't want to begin aggressive action unless you insist upon resistance" and demanded the surrender of all arms and weapons within an hour of receiving the pamphlets. Otherwise, the pamphlets said "you will be treated as aggressors who want fighting."

Shortly before noon, the Marconi radio telegraph company in Cairo advised that censorship had been imposed on both outgoing and incoming cable and radio messages.

Premier Mamoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha said last night in a statement for broadcast that Egypt ordered her armed forces into Palestine to "restore security and order" and stop "massacres perpetrated by terrorist Zionist gangs."

FLOOD OF BUYING HITS STOCK MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 15—The public hit the stock market today with the greatest flood of buying orders since 1929, but prices responded only modestly after Friday's sensational advance.

Volume of around 3,000,000 shares was the greatest for a Saturday in 15 years.

The new high speed ticker tape lagged behind actual transactions, from start to finish of the two-hour trading session, as much as a record 13 minutes at one time.

"Flash" quotations, used by the exchange when volume reaches such dizzy levels gave the latest prices for key stocks.

Orders came from all over the country. Despite the tremendous lifting force of this demand, final prices were up only a few cents to $1 or more a share. At times some prices advanced $2 a share.

Much of the selling came from persons who figured they'd sell out while they were still able to make a profit. Some disposed of holdings which have laid on the shelves for months or years.

TWO FOUND GUILTY ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Fines of $100 Assessed as a Result of Raids.

Two Marion residents were found guilty after hearings yesterday in municipal court on charges of possessing liquor for sale without a state permit and keeping places where liquor was sold without state permits.

Those convicted are Mrs. Esther Mae Orth, 42, proprietor of the Manor House, 327 South Main street, and Ray Howell, proprietor of the Cozy Corner Social club at 248 Kenton avenue. Each was fined $100 and costs by Judge Hazen. Mrs. Orth was given the option of donating $100 to the cancer fund in lieu of paying it as a fine. She elected to make the donation.

Both arrests resulted from raids staged April 24 by Inspector A. G. Kopan of the Cleveland office of the state department of liquor control. Mrs. Orth entered a plea of not guilty to the charges on the day of the raid and yesterday her case went to trial before Judge Hazen. Attorney Frank Wiedemann was attorney for Mrs. Orth.

Attorney Wiedemann also represented Howell, whose place was raided by state agents the same night as the Manor House. Howell also entered not guilty pleas on April 24 to charges of possessing liquor for sale without a state permit, and keeping a place where liquor was for sale without a license.

He was also found guilty by the court yesterday on both counts and fined $100 and costs.

An announcement was made that the auxiliary is to present the program at a general missionary meeting in June. MARK ANNIVERSARY OF AIR MAIL IN U.S.

Marion Postoffice Joins in Week's Observance.

Nationwide observance of air-mail week which began today and marks the thirtieth anniversary of the United State Airmail service, calls to attention prospects of increased use of these facilities here following the completion of the new municipal airport.

The observance will be of even greater significance locally when Marion has direct major airline service. Present volume already averages better than 50 pounds of incoming and outgoing airmail daily, with a pound of airmail comprising more than 30 letters, postmaster Homer D. Cole said today.

In connection with the observance here set by proclamation by Mayor Harry L. Dowler for May 15-21, Mr. Cole is distributing pamphlets to local firms employing air mail facilities pointing to the value and steadily increasing use of this service.

"Business houses are employing air mail facilities on an ever increasing scale," he said.

Emphasizing that air mail requires no longer than a day to reach the most distant point in the nation, Mr Cole said the average domestic airborne letter travelled 1,102 miles in 1947. Last year there were more than 28,000,000 pounds of airmail, aggregating nearly 800,000,000 letters, flown throughout the United States.

The proclamation signed by Mayor Dowler calls upon the people to recognize the week by taking part in events and activities commemorating this historic event and by patronizing the airmail service.

into south St. Paul and Newport early today.

Troops Enter Plants

Three motor columns loaded with armed troops moved out of St. Paul shortly before 1 a. m., rumbled along prearranged routes to south St. Paul and Newport, and passed into the Swift, Armour, and Cudahy plants.

Small bands of striking CIO United Packinghouse Workers solemnly opened the picket lines or let the columns through. Some strikers jeered. Others were silent.

One remarked: "Well boys, I guess they've broken us now."

Gov. Luther Youngdahl ordered the guard mobilized yesterday when 200 men battered their way into the Cudahy plant at Newport, slugged workers inside, then abducted 30 non-strikers. The non-strikers later were released along isolated roads.

Combat Force Formed

The troops, called from all walks of life on sudden notice, gathered all day at the state fair ground in St. Paul. Col. Lester A. Hancock formed them into a provisional combat team.

He said he could not give the exact number of troops but disclosed they all were armed to the teeth with carbines and submachine guns and had "plenty" of ammunition. The columns were composed of armored cars, halftracks, reconnaissance cars, and troops carriers.

Fifty vehicles moved into the huge Swift plant and an estimated 35 or 40 entered the smaller Armour and Cudahy plants. The soldiers were quartered in buildings or tents. Sentries were posted immediately.

The armored cars were located so that their guns commanded the plant gates. Fighter planes were expected to patrol the sky over the plant as they did in a show of strength yesterday.

The troops were a mixture of young recruits and combat veterans, pressed temporarily into service again. They were grim as they entered the plants. Most of them refused to talk about the strike.

Ordered To Obey Law

But some veterans said they wished they didn't have to face other veterans in the picket lines. They insisted they would do their duty, however.

Some 500 unionists milled around the Swift plant and light picket forces patrolled at Armour and Cudahy. But there were no incidents. Union officials last night ordered the strikers to "picket peacefully and obey the law."

Sheriffs Norman Dieter of Dakota county and Reuben Grandquist of Washington county were given "technical" command of the national guardsmen by Gov. Youngdahl. They stationed themselves in the packing plants.

The two sheriffs said the situation was "out of hand" when the 200 men assaulted the Cudahy plant yesterday and it was on their request that the governor called the guardsmen into action for the first time in 14 years.

Judge Gives Mansfield Man Fine and Sympathy

By The United Press

MANSFIELD, O., May 15 — Harold E. Gallagher was out $10 and costs today, but he had the sympathy of the judge who fined him.

Gallagher was accused of pulling Edward Raitch from his automobile and hitting him after Raitch allegedly bumped the rear of the Gallagher car which had stopped at a traffic light.

Gallagher told the court that Raitch had been following him in his car, blowing his horn and bumping into him at intersections.

Judge H. H. Schettler said he sympathized with Gallagher but he could do nothing but fine him for assault and battery.

Raitch said he thought Gallagher's car had stalled and he wanted to help start it by pushing it.

OHIO BOY FUGITIVE HELD AFTER CHASE

By The Associated Press

WANAKAH, N. Y., May 15—A 17-year-old Ohio fugitive was held today after what state police reported as a wild chase and an all-night search.

Sgt. M. L. Fort said the youth was William E. Guess of Lancaster, O. He said Guess admitted in a statement that he had escaped from the Lancaster boys' industrial school, stolen a 1947 automobile from Roy Moore of St. Louis, and participated in an attempted gas station theft at Wesleyville, Pa.

This is how Fort described the youth's arrest yesterday:

Troopers D. J. Libera and R. G. Dennis of the Wanakah state police substation, making a routine check near Silver Creek, signalled Guess to halt his automobile soon after midnight.

The car continued eastward on route 20. The troopers fired several shots, blasting off two rear tires. Twelve miles farther on, the car was ditched. Guess fled into the woods. He was arrested early yesterday trying to hitchhike.

Sergeant Fort said Guess told police he and William L. Roberts, 19, Willard, O., tried to steal money from a Wesleyville gas station. Guess said he escaped the automobile when an attempt seized Roberts.

MAYOR ADDRESSES CLUB ON HOSPITAL

Dowler Explains Proposal to Exchange Members.

In answer to a special invitation of its members, Mayor Harry L. Dowler addressed the Exchange Club yesterday on the proposed city-county hospital project. The occasion was the club's regular Thursday noon luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding.

Stating the need here for increased hospital facilities, Mayor Dowler lauded the staff of the present hospital for its excellent record of achievement despite severe shortages of space and equipment.

The mayor cited the comparison of Marion's facilities with those of other cities of comparable size, emphasizing the inadequacy of facilities here.

He stated his belief that even if a new hospital might be built the present hospital structure would not be a property loss to the city as it might be used to house city offices or be returned to its former use as a home for the aged or convalescent. Indicating his preference for the location of the proposed hospital the Mayor stated he believed that a site in Lincoln Park on Marion's North Side would be ideal for the hospital and would save the city considerable expense as the land is already city property.

A meeting of the board of control of the Exchange club will be held at 7:30 p. m. May 18 in the office of Howard Lawson on South Main street, it was announced at yesterday's meeting.

Mayor Dowler's address was recorded yesterday for future study by Exchange members by J.C.A. Arter. All future speakers at club meeting will be recorded, Arter said, so that any members of the club who were absent because of illness or out-of-town on business might hear the addresses at a later date.

Robert Swilka and William Roberts were guests at yesterday's dinner meeting. Thirty Exchange members were in attendance.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Disorder Likely To Affect Elderly Man

Enlargement of the prostate gland in older men is so common as to be thought of as one of the inevitable penalties of advancing years.

There are many possible causes for such enlargement, the most common of which is overgrowth of the glandular, muscle and connective tissues. It is known as a benign enlargement because it is not cancerous, but cancer frequently occurs with it. As a matter of fact, when cancer does occur in this location, it is usually associated with one of these benign tumors, cancer alone being one of the rarest causes for prostatic enlargement.

Of course, the great danger of any enlargement of the prostate is the blocking of the bladder outlet. When this occurs, symptoms are not lacking and, if a dangerous illness is to be avoided, the services of a specialist should be sought at once.

Treatment of benign tumor generally requires surgery. One of the commonest operations performed is known as transurethral section, in which that portion of the gland blocking the bladder is removed by operating through the urethra which leads from the bladder to the outside of the body. Since cancer so frequently occurs with such growths, the tissue which is removed should be examined carefully under the microscope for cancerous cells.

Unfortunately, in only about one out of every twenty patients with cancer of the prostate is the diagnosis made early enough to justify complete removal of the gland. It is probable that such cancers may exist for several years without causing symptoms or spreading to other parts of the body.

The enlargement of the prostate gland is detected by examination through the rectum. While this examination may show whether or not the gland is enlarged, it does not aid in determining the cause of the enlargement. This must depend on microscopic examination of tissues removed by transurethral resection. The early care of such cancers has proved life-saving in case after case.

In advanced cancer of the prostate gland, it has been found that treatment with extracts from certain glands will relieve pain and cause a decrease in the size of the growth. There is also an improvement in the general health. Such treatment, however, does not seem to prolong the life of those with prostatic cancer.

HARDING PRINCIPAL KIWANIS SPEAKER

A. C. May Discusses Objectives of Luncheon Club.

"Objectives of Kiwanis" was the subject of the talk given by Albert C. May, a Kiwanian and principal of Harding High school, at the Kiwanis club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding.

Mr. May urged each member to evaluate the six Kiwanis objectives which are as follows:

1—To give primacy to the human and spiritual, rather than the material values of life.

2—To encourage daily living of the golden rule in all human relationships.

3—To promote adoption and application of higher social, business and professional standards.

4—To develop, by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship.

5—To provide, through Kiwanis clubs, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service and to build better communities, and

6—To cooperate in creating and maintaining sound public opinion and high idealism which makes possible increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and good will.

Under the first objective, Mr. May defined "human" as characteristics of man, "primacy" as giving something the first place in consideration, "spiritual" as holy, "material" as things formed of matter, and "value" as to hold in high esteem. Mr. May related a question once asked of Daniel Webster and the answer he gave. The question was "What Is the Most Important Thought That Ever Occupied Your Mind?" and Webster responded with "my individual responsibility to God."

Guests of the club were Ed Mc-Dermott of Columbus, George H. Watkins of Worthington, John Calkins and Robert Stafford of Marion.

Global Scene

By DeWitt Mackenzie

THIS tragic Arab-Jewish war, which has been allowed to develop through the failure of world statesmanship to carry out its stewardship, poses many speculative problems for those trying to foresee the outcome.

Barring success in the new mediation which the United Nations is undertaking, the conflict bids fair in the long run to produce a decision in the old feud between these two races. At its worst it could be fought to a bloody finish which would leave the defeated side knocked out and the victor in possession of the entire Holy Land.

MACKENZIE

However, while we must be prepared for the worst—and even for the terrors of a Holy War—I don't think we need to regard this as inevitable, the way the signs now read. There are several other possibilities, among which are these:

1. The extent of the invasion of Palestine by the troops of neighboring Arab nations is by no means certain. The Arabs are not a wholly united race. There are many acute differences among the various nations, and some of the greatest clashes revolve about the reported ambitions of King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan to extend his domain and power. This being so, there is always the possibility that the joint invasion might peter out, especially since the Jews have the biggest active army in the Middle East.

2. SOME OBSERVERS feel that there is a chance King Abdullah might set up a government in that part of Palestine not claimed by the Jews. Then would follow an uneasy truce, and ultimately the Arabs and Jews would get together and agree on a division of the Holy Land into two nations.

3. The invading Arabs might surround the new Israel and then settle down to long drawn out guerrilla tactics which would be calculated to create an economic pressure to put the Jewish government out of commission. However, this scheme would seem to involve a lot of wishful thinking, since it is promised on the far-fetched idea that the Jewish people of America and other countries would get tired of maintaining the Jewish state under such adverse circumstances.

Despite the fact that the Jews are surrounded by hostile Arab nations which theoretically could produce an overwhelming force of fighting men, the present prospects of the Jewish state are regarded by many military observers as good. The Jewish army is said to total fifty thousand or more of trained men who are fairly well equipped with materiel and small arms. It will take a powerful attacking force to beat them.

THE ARABS, ON THE other hand, are attacting under difficulties. As this column pointed out earlier in the week, their problem of supplying their armies will be great. Not only are their lines of communication long, but they run through much desert country and other difficult terrain. So taking it all in all, the Jews have much justification for the optimism they are displaying.

America's prompt recognition of their new government should strengthen the Jews' position greatly.

There remains one other grave possibility. Should the Jewish-Arab warfare be bitter and protracted, there must always exist the danger that another world war might develop from it. The great powers have vast interests in the strategic Middle East, and are bound to defend them against aggression. A clash in those interests might strike fire.

In a typical residence, 44.4 percent of the heat is lost through roof and walls and it is to reduce this loss that both new and old homes are insulated.

A Long View of Palestine

ESTABLISHMENT of a Jewish state in Palestine is a momentous event in current history. But in the long view, Israel is not likely to solve the area's ageless problem—the irreconcilability of its inhabitant.

History teaches one lesson above all other and has taught it many times in Palestine. Strife fills all vacuums in human cooperation. Palestine has been one of the most fought-over places on earth. The fighting always has been traceable to the inability of its inhabitants to govern themselves by mutual consent.

Their failure goes back thousands of years, through the history of their own internecine warfare and invasion by Egyptians, Persians, Syrians, Greeks, Romans, Turks and, in recent times, domination by the British.

One after another the Empire builders who tried to pacify Palestine either were driven out by newer, stronger empires or by their own exhaustion, Britain has yielded to exhaustion.

Again there is strife in Palestine. The great powers and the lesser powers watch fearfully, as they always have. They may be drawn into it to protect some real or fancied interest in control of one of the historic crossroads of the world.

Perhaps the vacuum can be dispelled by the new state of Israel. Or it may be dispelled, as the Jews fear, by Arabian irredentists, brought together by what they consider the threat of Jewish nationalism. Or it may be dispelled by the United States or the Soviet Union—the only outside powers strong enough to risk intervention.

People of good will hope and pray for reconciliation in Palestine—between the Jews and Arabs and between the outside powers that may be tempted to fill the vacuum of cooperation with strife of their own. They hope and pray even though knowing how nearly irreconcilable the Palestinians are, knowing it will take a miracle if they do not pass from under the control of Britain into an agony of bloodshed.

Private Responsibility

ONE of the thickest, strongest planks in the Republican platform to be laid down next month by the party convention in Philadelphia has been rough-hewn by the congressional economic committee headed by Senator Taft.

All the committee's recommendations on national economic policy are made with a view to private responsibility. While critics may complain that the recommendations are not sufficiently comprehensive, their general theme is clear. They are for free enterprise and against government control.

As Senator Taft pointed out time and time again while he was explaining his views to Ohioans in the recent campaign for convention delegates, the Republican party's basic issue with what is left of the New Deal is over the New Dealers' itch for ever larger areas of federal control.

Senator Taft has been one of the most vigorous spokesmen within the party for policies that encourage private initiative and restrict the use of federal taxing and spending powers to enlarge federal authority. He will be one of the most influential policy makers in the convention.

Those who have been aware in the last few presidential elections that the parties sometimes were arguing about distinctions, instead of differences, can be certain that in the 1948 election there will be a major difference. The Republican party stands for more and more private responsibility. The vestigial New Deal headed by Mr. Truman stands for more and more government control.

"I Am an American"

IT WOULD be better, perhaps, if "I Am an American Day" had been called "We Are Americans Day."

There is constant danger of letting Americanism be couched in personal pronouns. While that was never the intent of those who started "I Am an American Day," which honors those who have become Americans by choice instead of by birth, it would be better if naturalized citizens learned at the outset to think of Americanism as a collective possession.

All of us are Americans—rightists, leftists and those in the middle—colored, uncolored and mixed strains—members of all religions, holders of all ideologies, rich, poor, middle class, descendants of the Pilgrims and the descendants of more recent foreign-born. Whatever America is that is precious and worth believing in belongs to everybody who lives under the protection of its principles and its laws. Congratulations to those who have become Americans by choice. They have joined the fraternity of freedom.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Russians Obviously Concerned Over "Face."

THE principal personal preoccupation of an Oriental is "face." The Russians are, of course, Eurasians and it is not always clear which one of them they exhibit at a particular moment, the western European or the Oriental nomadic. But "face" always bothers them. They dare not even permit the impression to exist that they have been worsted. They have risked great gains in friendship and acceptance by small and nasty acts which added slightly to their face.

SOKOLSKY

It is now obvious that Soviet Russia has lost the "cold war." That was clear in the French and Italian elections, in the Marshall plan and in the efforts that are being made to establish a league of western European nations.

Russia's objectives in the cold war were:

1. To consolidate Russia's control of European countries east of the Elbe;

2. To weaken the Anglo-American position on the continent of Europe.

3. To lay the foundations for establishing Communist states in western Europe;

4. To isolate the United States diplomatically while impoverishing the western European countries economically;

5. To maintain disturbances throughout Asia, from the Mediterranean to the Pacific;

6. To isolate Chiang Kai-shek and to drive the Americans out of Korea;

7. To eliminate "majority rule" in international councils, particularly wherever it may appear in UN, and failing that, to kill off UN, which the Russians regard as a bloc of western nations anyhow;

8. So to increase the cost to the American taxpayer that he would: A. Refuse to support his government's policy; B. That a neo-isolationism would develop in the United States which would mean the withdrawal of the United States from Europe and Asia, leaving both areas to Soviet Russia.

Never "Quite" An Ally

Soviet Russia, in broad outline, held this position throughout the war, never quite becoming an ally, remaining aloof from consultation and joint action, and finally, at Teheran and Yalta, insisting upon the rights of the conqueror in terms more stringent and grievous than appeared even in the Molotov-Ribbentrop pact. This attitude on the part of the Russians, Roosevelt either failed to recognize as characteristic imperialism, or having recognized it, dared do nothing about it in time of war, hoping that final victory might strengthen his hand. American policy, from Roosevelt's death until James Byrnes's acknowledgment of failure, was throughout an acceptance of the Russian program of conquest.

Stalin, however, failed in every phase of this policy except the consolidation of Soviet control east of the Elbe, during the past six months. The relations between Great Britain and the United States have never been on a friendlier basis nor more cooperative nor closer to the western countries of Europe. Not even during the actual war have the American people accepted the partnership with Great Britain more willingly. In western Europe, communism is receding—very actively receding. Ditto for Central and South America. The United States is not isolated diplomatically but, fumblingly, it is true, continues to lead the western world. Western Europe is no longer economically impoverished but has received a goodly share of dollar credits. While disturbances continue in Palestine, no important group of Arabs or Zionists are pro-Russian, and Iran is, for the moment, safe. Whereas Chiang Kai-shek is in difficulties, he has survived the onslaught of the Communist armies and the machinations of the fellow-travelers. And the Stilwell-Marshall policy for China, never correct, is now fully rejected.

Not Pleasant, But Necessary

True, no American enjoys the cost of all our activities; yet the country has stood behind all the demands of the Army, Navy and Air Force. In fact, the congress has gone further than the President in support of the armed forces. No isolationist movement has developed among the people, except among the Communists and their fellow-travelers. Instead, the country is united in support of a bi-partisan foreign policy which will not be affected even slightly by the election.

The United States is mentally and spiritually prepared even for war—a war that no one wants.

The Russians know that what is written here is true and they would like to recede from an untenable position without losing "face." So they say that the United States wants peace. That is true—but it is peace with dignity and honor.

When the Boys Convene

By Frank Tripp

CONVENTIONS are remarkable things. Their main result is to review the mistakes of the past year and resolve to do nothing about it.

They are somewhat of an American institution as now run. Nevertheless methinks the first convention was a two-man affair attended by a couple of our ancestors in the Garden of Eden.

TRIPP

Anyway those two boys set an early pattern for conventions; since out of them usually comes a quite similar aftermath. Half of the conveners get bigger and stronger. The other half may not meet Abel's fate but they often dissolve into impotent competition if not into true oblivion.

It wouldn't be much use to review the solid accomplishments of conventions. There's rarely a deviation. One who owns a proceedings report of the first convention he attended need never tote home another.

The same bird with the same phobia makes the same speech he made last year, offers the same palliatives and gets the same place—nowhere.

The committee on ways and means suggests the same ways no matter how meagre may be the means to grease the ways.

* * *

At the tail end of the proceedings, the closing session on the last day, when the few yet able to get out of bed assemble among the empty chairs—that's when the only new thing happens. The necrology committee reports.

True, the resolutions are the same ones that Sam Taber wrote back in 1886; but the names are different.

About the only thing certain to be new at a convention comes when everybody bows in memory of the departed brothers. Agenda makers haven't yet found a way to have a member die more than once.

* * *

So why do conventions flourish? There are several appealing, if not profitable, reasons.

First off, far from the meeting hall, in a dark corner of a newly-found hide-out, a member from Albuquerque has another from Chillicothe hanging on the ropes. From copious quantities of spirits frumenti to which he's not accustomed.

* * *

The New Mexico delegate is trying to get a trade secret from a competitor by an age old process not yet outlawed by the fair practice act.

Whether or not he gets it, he does get himself a comfortable snootful on the firm's money and strengthens his much boasted acquaintance in the trade. Knowing somebody has kept many a guy on a payroll.

Then there's another attractive thing about conventions. The boys all get vacations with pay but they're on their own then. They pick inexpensive places to go and there's no way to get big dinner checks on an expense account. So they have their real vacation on the boss at convention time and use their own vacations to recuperate.

A lot of 'em have found how to take the wife to conventions at minimum cost. Some wouldn't take her along on a bet—for reasons of their own—but those who would do pretty well.

If they can drive, that takes care of her transportation. The bargain convention hotel prices let her slip in double while the old man's expenses get turned in at the higher per capita single rate. It's a legitimate way to give friend wife a swell time pretty cheap.

* * *

The ladies of the entertaining city take the wife in tow, keep her off his neck, and if she's smart she brings back an armful of souvenirs or prizes she's won in a bridge tournament or something.

Encouraged by a famous horseshoe pitcher not to worry about how old yarns are, braves me to recall the habitual convener who had a terrifically homely wife.

For years he had attended alone. Then one year he took her. A pal with whom he had drunk his way through scores of conventions, approached him in the hotel lobby and said:

"My God, Joe, I just passed the homeliest woman I ever saw in my life. She stands right over there."

"That's my wife," said Joe.

Bill was profuse with apologies, which went over okay because he and Joe had so much on each other. By way of explanation Joe proclaimed:

"It's like this, Bill. Every year when I came away I had to bid her farewell. I ain't as strong as I used to be and when I thought of having to go through it again, I decided I'd rather bring her along than kiss her goodbye."

Franklin Liked Books

FRANKLIN, Mass.—This first town to be named for Benjamin Franklin is observing its 170th anniversary this year.

Still in excellent condition at the town library are 92 of the 116 books donated by the great Philadelphian.

Franklin was in France in 1778 when the town was incorporated and a friend wrote him that a bell for the church steeple would be an excellent gift.

"Sense is preferable to sound," Franklin wrote back. He said he would present the new town with books for its library. He asked his friends to select volumes "to about the value of 25 pounds."

The books, he said, should be those "most proper to inculcate principles of sound religion and just government."

64-Billion Dollar Question

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

WHY can't Truman and Stalin clear up this mess by sitting down together and talking things over? Innumerable men and women all over the United States and the world have been asking the question for many months. And now the question has gained greatly added urgency from the strange episode of the exchange between Ambassador W. Bedell Smith and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

One of the rather mixed motives for Ambassador Smith's statement of American policy to the Kremlin was, in fact, the fear that Moscow would publicly propose another high-level conference. Of such conferences, as Secretary Marshall said, we have already had much "bitter experience." There have been planted stories, and there have been feelers, like the Soviet overture to Ambassador Robert Murphy in Berlin, suggesting the possibility of such a Soviet move. Why was it feared? Why did the state department not welcome Molotov's expression of willingness to begin Soviet-American discussions?

Joseph Alsop

American policy makers, when they are asked these questions, have a way of replying with a question of their own: "But what kind of a settlement do you want?" For this, there is an obvious reason. As the leader of the major power of the non-Soviet world, President Truman could undoubtedly "sit down with Stalin" and reach agreement. It has been obvious since the end of the war that the Kremlin would like nothing better than for Russia and the United States to divide up the world in the manner of two small boys splitting a slightly rotten apple. Immediately after the war, this desire was very clearly disclosed. In the Kremlin's frantic propaganda effort to drive a wedge between this country and Britain.

What Russia Wants

Unfortunately, in the first place, the Soviets clearly believe that this kind of division of the world should be on the basis of the United States taking the Western Hemisphere and perhaps the Pacific Islands, and leaving the Eurasian continent and its African dependencies to Russia. The Soviets would almost certainly not accept any division of the world on the basis of the status quo, since this would leave the non-Soviet sector potentially stronger than the Soviet sector. Equally, we could not accept the division outlined above.

Suppose, however, that certain concessions were made, on the pattern suggested by Henry Wallace. Suppose, in fact, that the Soviets were tossed Korea, the Dardanelles, Berlin and Vienna, in return for a promise to stop their pressure in Greece, Iran and elsewhere. Then the world would certainly be divided, at least temporarily. But the trouble is that the division would not stick.

Would Strengthen Soviet

The Soviet half of the world would be organized as an immense, monolithic empire. The non-Soviet half would remain a mere congeries of independent nations, cooperating only half-heartedly and occasionally. The Soviet empire, immensely strengthened by the new concessions, would eventually begin again pressing outward along its borders. The temptation to do so would be irresistable. And the non-Soviet half of the world, weakened by the loss of vital strategic points, disunited and disorganized, would find resistance to Soviet pressure immeasureably more difficult than it is today.

Here is the heart of the trouble. A purely artificial division of any territory, including the earth, is always possible between dictators.

If strength is so equally balanced that each dictator always hesitates to attack the other, the settlement may prove enduring. But this sort of artificial territorial pie-slicing is not possible—is in truth wickedly dangerous—when one party to the deal is the ruthless dictator of a huge monolithic empire, and the other party is the President of a democratic country giving away territory that is not his. If President Truman is to divide the world with Stalin, Truman must become another Stalin first.

Consequently, the object of American policy is a natural rather than an artificial division of the world. As the American policy-makers see it, the present situation has been created by the weakness of the non-Soviet sphere, which constitutes a standing invitation to Kremlin imperialism. But if the West can be restored to health and strength, further imperial adventures will become too risky. The Kremlin will begin to accept the status quo as natural and enduring, just as the leaders of Islam abandoned world conquest for acceptance of the status quo after their defeats at Lepanto and under the walls of Vienna. Not negotiation, but reconstruction, is the road to peace.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Letters for Special Delivery

"When you look back today on the settlement of this continent you wonder how it was done. When I see what the pioneers had to contend with I wonder now in the world they ever did it."—President Truman in an address dwelling on the headaches he encounters in the America of today.

* * *

DEAR PRESIDENT TRUMAN:

Your comment observed and duly noted. In reply I beg to state as follows: It could be, Harry, that the pioneers and builders of this country had a deep sense of community and with them it was not a case of I-got-mine - no - matter - what - happens - to - the-others, don't you think? Nobody ever heard of a band of colonists engaged in holding off a scalping party and suddenly threatening to strike until they personally got a better deal. It was not the custom in those days for anybody scouting Indian raiders to ask "Before I go any further am I getting all I should be getting out of this?"

PHILLIPS

The first Americans had a sense of responsibility to their neighbors and for all the women and children not just the women and children of those in the best position to make demands. They also, unless I am all wrong, had a firm belief in majority rule and when they put anything up for a decision they abided by it and did not say, "This did not come our way so down the drain with it!" Even the Redskins must have a little of this spirit, because Pocahontas, you will recall, did not walk out on Captain John Smith with a sudden cry of "I hate to quit but I gotta have more beans or else..."

* * *

I notice in the history books that George Washington and his men at Valley Forge did not come out with a statement "Things are too uncomfortable down here with us, so we have decided that, regardless of the critical situation affecting all Americans, we quit unless we are guaranteed better conditions at once." The Indians would still be throwing torches over the stockades if those early settlers were governed by the group distrusts, class hatreds and the "I want what I want when I want it" mood of present day Americans.

* * *

Now, of course, Harry, it is also true that in the colonial days there were fewer politicians looking for votes, and there were not so many demagogues sounding off on all issues to confuse and befuddle the folks in time of national crisis. Greatest break of all, there were no microphones, automobiles, yachts, summer resorts, electric dishwashers and so much around fun that people got the notion they were given a raw deal whenever they weren't laughing, dancing, singing or winning quiz prizes.

* * *

So stop wondering how it was ever done, Harry. The builders of America and too many of the boys who are around today are different types. There is no comparison. You have got to stop looking back at the pioneers and look at their successors. And I hope you can stand it.

Yours,

ELMER.

The highway season is now open—after-dark and weekend hunting parties given special attention. Licenses can be arranged.

Motoring is the only sport which makes sitting birds fair game. If you can't bring them down on the move, go after them where you find them—parked, on the sidewalk or sitting in their front yards, if they're foot-weary pedestrians.

Don't spare the horn. It confuses them at the moment of impact and tightens them up for the collision. Motorists in new cars will have a better chance for good hunting than ever before. The windshields are wider, for greater visibility.

One manufacturer has come into the market with a sensational improvement—a car with a crash chamber for the convenience of front seat passengers. Things were getting so bad the hunters themselves were getting hurt.

Curves and intersections will continue to be favored locations for demonstrating what happens when two unstoppable forces meet head on. The house by the side of the road is now a first aid station.

There are no restrictions on the use of jagged fenders and dangling strips of trim. Anyone with these lethal improvements can polish off a pedestrian without trying. Also helpful are burned-out headlights and squashy brakes.

Despite considerable agitation by do-gooders there still is no quota on the number of accidents permitted per driver. Near-misses aren't counted. There is no penalty for trying.

An added attraction this season will be the new light-weight vehicles, now on the road in sufficient numbers to make them worth trying for. These roll end over end more gracefully than the clumsier, heavier types.

Grillwork designs on new models were made that way with an eye to giving pedestrians something to remember them by. Skilled drivers will be able to stamp each victim, like government-inspected meat.

Motor scooters have added zest to the hunt due to the fact they build up more speed than bicycles, yet lack the getaway speed of motorcycles. They cannot fight back when cornered.

Nuts to stop signs, caution signals, school bus warnings and guide lines. Nuts to good manners, common sense and a decent regard for the other fellow's right to live and pursue happiness. When the highway season opens, everything within reach is fair game.

Nuts to speed limits, railroad crossings, traffic lights and dangerous intersections. The days of real sport are here. Fill 'er up and let 'er roll. Keep the hospitals, mortuaries, repair shops and insurance companies in a tizzy. Get there in a hurry and hurry back. Cut in and swing out. Duck, dodge, bear down and don't give an inch. A new record for automobile fatalities and injuries in 1948 is within the grasp of those who never tire of reaching for it.

Pentecost

A Sermonette

By REV. ELDRED JOHNSTON

Pastor of Central Christian Church.

Text: "Christ in you, the hope of glory."—Colossians 1:27.

* * *

PENTECOST ranks second only to Christmas and Easter as a day of importance for the Church. It is a day symbolizing the actual indwelling of the Holy Spirit—or the spirit of God—or God, the spirit (these are identical terms). This is the grand climax of the Christian faith: God in you. Christ in you—the hope of glory.

Most of us agree that the church today does not seem to be doing an effective job of redeeming the world because too many church members are weak, confused, blind, and compromising. And the reason for this is that they are walking alone—they are probably sincere, but alone. Too many church members are coasting along on a religion with an ancient Biblical tradition as its only basis. Too many of them hold a church membership existing on the sole justification that the church is just another good organization to belong to. Too many of them have a religion that has become petrified into a cold, formal exercise. To very few is religion a warm, vital, living fellowship with the living Christ.

Comradeship with the living Christ does not come easy. We are living in a very secular era. Human ingenuity has stopped at nothing to cater to the flesh. We sit in an overstuffed chair, listening to famous musical talent, leafing through a sensuous magazine, munching on dol'ar-and-a-half a pound chocolates. Is it any wonder that we have so little meentive to seek the things of the spirit?

But this does not mean it is impossible for us to open our lives to Him who seeks to enter and sup with us. If one so desires it can be done. By persistent practice in opening our hearts to Him; by daily surrendering our will to reign supreme within our souls.

This doesn't mean that we have to move to the top of some lonely hill and live apart from men. It doesn't mean that we have to stop walking and talking and working and laughing with our friends. But it does mean that behind the scenes we have to keep up the life of simple prayer and inward worship. And to those who persist and do not grow weary there will gradually come the sure and thrilling conviction that they are not alone, but that they walk hand in hand with the great, divine Comrade.

"Lo, I am with you always," He said. And they who have been fearful, weak and unhappy reach out to receive the strong, uplifting arm. The politician who was easily changed and swayed becomes the unpurchaseable man. The intolerant person who was bitter and narrow toward other races, nations, and classes now becomes the man of unquenchable good will. The self-centered person who had no concern for others, now becomes the man of a warm and radiant heart. The person who was nervous, anxious, troubled, worried, now becomes the man of composure and peace. The secret? Not new determination—not new man-made plans—but, a new Companion. "I can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth me."

The boost was due largely to the seven-day early start this year, the association said. Grain totaled 453,217 tons, "appreciably lower than last season."

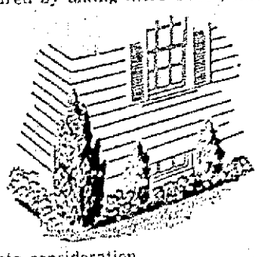
Base Planting Adds Much to Beauty of House

Any professional gardener or landscape architect will tell you that there has never been anything particularly beautiful about the corner of a house. They will also tell you that shrubs or trees which blank windows are out of place. They will tell you that foundations are seldom good to look upon. The best effects in planting around a house are secured by taking these three points into consideration.



The homeowner who wants to get the best job possible for the least amount of money, should first set one or two shrubs at the corners of the house so that they bring the corner down into the lawn and thus eliminate that bare, stark, building line. The next step is to plant some kind of low, spreading plant, which will cover from a third to a half of the bare masonry foundation. This will blend house into lawn and prevent the abrupt foundation wall line.

The third step is to frame any foundation windows with shrubs which grow high rather than wide, so that the windows will not be blanked after a few years of growth. Most basements are dark enough and damp enough, without being further cut off from the outdoor light. If these suggestions are followed out, you can have a good base planting job with little expense.

All shrubs should be kept far enough away from the house to prevent continuous dampness, and in case that they grow so full as to touch the house they can be cut back where they touch the building, without detracting from their appearance.

There are several species of low-cost shrubs that lend themselves nicely to base planting, and common ivy makes the ideal foundation border.

During a short business meeting, various committee reports were given. At the next meeting, the temple will observe Mother's Day with a special program of entertainment and refreshments.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Ceiling and Wallpaper Stained

Q.: Like many others, I have had my new wallpaper and ceiling stained by ice on the roof last winter. Is it possible to erase rusty water rings from the paper, and could some kind of powder be used to cover small stains on ceilings?

A.: The rusty stains on the paper cannot be washed off. But you may be able to make them less noticeable by touching them up with water color paints. If the stains are too dark for this, the next thing would be to cover the stains with a patch of the same kind of paper. You probably have an extra roll of the wallpaper, since the paper is new. Your paperhanger can cover the stained place so neatly that it will scarcely show.

To do the job yourself, do not cut the paper for the patch; instead, it should be torn from the back so that the front surface will have a feathery edge. Coat the back of the patch liberally with wallpaper paste, somewhat thinned with water. Place the patch over the damaged spot, and slide it around until the pattern matches. Force the paper into tight contact and brush it from the center toward the edges, forcing out the excess paste and air under the patch. Wipe off the paste promptly that oozes out, using a damp cloth. For the ceiling, I do not think the powder would last any length of time. Instead, you could touch up the spots with the same kind of finish that is now on the ceiling. If it is an oil paint, it should not be hard to do, blending in the new paint and feathering out the edges. If the finish is ordinary calcimine, it should first be sponged off before applying any more.

Removing Textures Paint

Q.: Last year I texture-painted my two bedrooms. The plaster in these two rooms was in good condition and not cracked. Now this texture is cracking and bulging in quite a few places. What is the best way to remove this paint?

A.: Break through the painted surface of the textured paint by rubbing with coarse sandpaper wrapped around a block of wood. Then soak the surface with hot water to which some household ammonia is added. When the plastic coating is soft, remove it with a putty knife. Rinse the plaster afterward with clear water and let dry thoroughly. Try this in a corner of a room and see if the above solution will be effective.

Spotted Window Sills

Q.: I am in a new house and was unable to get storm sash at once. The condensation has stained the window sills. They are lighter in spots from the water stain. Can these spots be touched up without refinishing the sills?

A.: Go over the spots lightly with fine sandpaper and wipe off the dust with a cloth dampened with turpentine. You can touch up the spots with the same kind of finish as before, blending in the patches as well as you can. Do not expect a perfect job. An exact match will be hard to make.

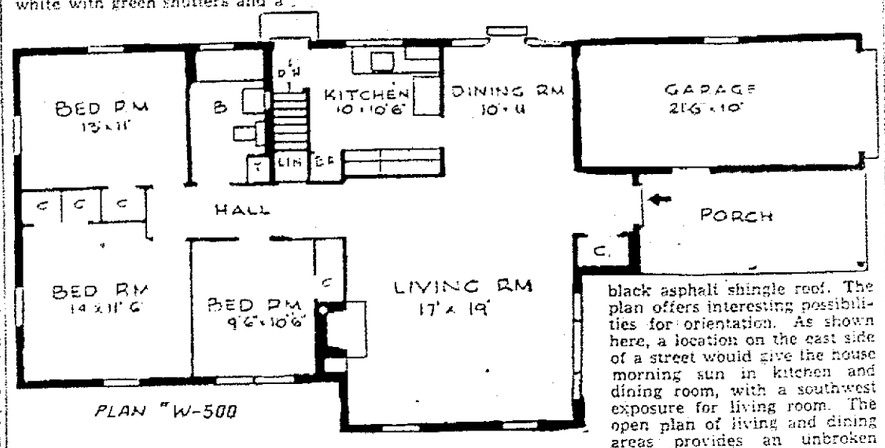
HOMES FOR AMERICANS

By The Associated Press

A modern interpretation of Colonial tradition, this plan can be used on either a wide or narrow lot. Bertram A. Weber, 211 North La Salle street, Chicago 1, Ill., is the architect. He finds this style popular because it "imparts an air of grace and dignity to any site." Plan W-500, this house includes six good sized rooms in approximately 1,300 square feet, exclusive of porch and garage. A part basement accommodates heating plant and laundry.

Among major specifications, the architect suggests an exterior of common brick, painted white with green shutters and a black asphalt shingle roof. The plan offers interesting possibilities for orientation. As shown here, a location on the east side of a street would give the house morning sun in kitchen and dining room, with a southwest exposure for living room. The open plan of living and dining areas provides an unbroken width of 30 feet.



PLAN "W-500

Reserve Posts Open Without Experience

No previous military service is necessary for enlistment in the Organized Reserve, Captain John B. Weaver, unit instructor, Organized Reserve, announced today.

Men between the ages of 17 and 35 may enlist in the Organized Reserve Corps without previous military training just as they may in the National Guard, he explains. Men between the ages of 35 and 45 may enlist if they have needed technical skills and are especially authorized to enlist by the area commander concerned.

FAULTY CHIMNEYS SOURCE OF DANGER

There's no excuse for faulty chimneys that can be dangerous fire hazards, says "Practical Builder." A safety tested and approved chimney can be purchased in one package with all parts necessary for immediate installation. Low in cost and easy to install in a few hours, it can be used for coal, oil, gas or other fuels.

To prevent deterioration from flue gas acids, correct defective linings, leaky joints and poor drafts in existing chimneys, a sturdy, porcelain enameled steel liner can be inserted quickly and easily. Chimneys are danger spots in the home since it takes special effort to detect flaws or corrosion. They should be checked seasonally, and loose bricks, crumbling mortar or cracks need the attention of a mason to prevent more extensive damage.

Installing a fine mesh metal screen over the top of your chimney will prevent sparks coming through with danger of igniting a roof that is not fireproof. There is also a baffled, ventilating chimney top that prevents down drafts, is constructed to draw regardless of wind direction.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MY husband looked over at me with mischief in his eyes, then spread his hands with an expression on his face which would have done credit to a bashful schoolboy suddenly called on to "speak a piece."

"Oh dear!" he said with an inane giggle. "I-I-really couldn't talk about myself that way. You'll just have to ask Madge. She'll tell you."

"I hope she tells you off plenty when she gets you alone where nobody can hear you yell for mercy," Lillian said viciously, and Dicky turned to Harry with hands outspread.

"Are you going to let her talk like that to me?" he asked plaintively.

"Pipe down. You're delaying the game," the big man told him unfeelingly, and as Dicky resignedly sank back against his chair cushions, Harry looked at me.

"Spoon the lentils about your redoubtable husband," he said, and I told them of the tactics Dicky had used in convincing Georges that he'd better give up his purpose, stressing especially the laughter of Mary at the three "sacred letters" begging foregiveness for trying to kiss her at their last parting which Georges had sent to her at the sanitarium.

"He sent just two notes to Olina while he was away," I interpolated, and I heard disgusted intakes of breath from every listener.

"Is he the world's worst heel, or the most colossal jackass living?" Lillian demanded caustically.

"A little of both," Dicky said, "but just so you won't tear my spouse limb from limb when she tells you something amazing a little later on, I'll tell you now that I'm prepared to back her up when she springs her big surprise about our Georgy Porgy. He really has a fraction of a claim on another ancient, honorable, if laughter-provoking title coming to him."

A general hoot of skeptical laughter greeted this, but I was not surprised to see that while Mary laughed with the rest, her eyes gleamed for an instant with something very like relief and pleasure. After all, I reflected, it was natural that she would welcome some modification of the ridiculous picture which the sweetheart of her youth had been presenting. She had no love for him, indeed, she was deeply and justly incensed at him, but memories are memories, and I knew that hers of Georges were especially sweet and nostalgic.

"You're delaying the game again," Harry Underwood said accusingly. "We'll listen to a defense of Georges lated. But up to the present time, he hasn't had his coup de grace, and I hope to de good Lawd I pronounced that right."

"You didn't" his wife assured him, "and suppose you see how you look with your lips shut tightly. Go ahead, Madge."

I shot a look at my husband, for I knew I would need his aid later when I tried to do justice to Georges before these judges who were demanding his head on a platter. Then I spoke rapidly.

"I think you would have wept," I said, laughingly. "I know I nearly did, at the picture Dicky drew of fragile, tearful, but indignant Mary planning to fly to her husband for rescue and place in his hands the three letters and having Noel deal with Georges.

"That blow really did pierce him in both his ego and his heart—"

"The latter so-called," Katharine commented mercilessly.

"Wait!" I told her. "At any rate, Georges capitulated.—"

"'Caved' is the word, Sweet," my husband said. Then he turned to the others.

"You never saw such a complete collapse in your life. When he finally got through wallowing in remorse he was giving a wonderful imitation of the kid who 'jest before Christmas is goin' to be as good as he can be.'"

"So, that's the wind-up of Georgy-Porgy," Lillian said, and I gave them a cryptic grin.

"'You ain't heard nuthin' yit,'" I quoted with unction.

Q. Have you any material on making flowers bloom with artificial light? I want to have a few geraniums for my own enjoyment in the basement. It is not light enough down there to make them bloom. Would a bulb help?

A. It takes an enormous amount of artificial light to grow plants successfully. We find that a 150 watt Mazda bulb gives just enough light to keep an azalea from shedding its leaves. In order to give enough light for satisfactory growth you would have to have a 300 watt Mazda, not over two feet above the plant. This would cover a square 3x3 feet. By this time you would find the heat from the light would be so great that the plants could not take it and would grow spindley and soft.

Although fluorescent lights are cool you cannot buy them at sufficiently high power to give enough light unless you use between seven and eight of the standard 40 watt ones. This would make the expense too great to be practical.

In other words, we still have to use a considerable amount of natural sunlight to grow plants successfully.

* * *

Q. Six years ago I bought a Mayday tree. It was supposed to bloom the next year, and it has grown to be a very nice tree but never blooms. Could you tell me why?

A. The Mayday tree is merely the European form of our native chokecherry. If it is planted in the sun in a well drained spot it should bloom, according to all the descriptions I have ever read of it, by the time you have had it in a year or two. Other than this, I am afraid I cannot offer you any advice as to what should be done to make it bloom.

* * *

Q. Would you please tell me the names of varieties of the first and earliest daffodils to bloom here in Ohio?

A. I believe you will find that the earliest among the daffodils are February Gold, Golden Spur, Sir Watkin, Alaskan, Golden Harvest and Helios. In general all of the trumpet narcissus are earlier blooming than the other types. In the larger bulb catalogs, you will find information whether the varieties are early, mid-season, or late bloomers.

* * *

Q. Would you please tell me whether a jasmine is a hardy bush or a house plant?

A. There is a so-called winter flowering jasmine, Jasminum nudiflorum, that is hardy in Kentucky and southern Ohio. It somewhat resembles the golden-bell or forsythia, except that it should bloom several weeks earlier. There are a number of other jasmines but they are all southern shrubs that are not hardy even in Kentucky. I doubt if you would find they would be satisfactory as house plants.

STRIP MINING FIELDS ACTIVE

Marion Shovels Will Dig Much of 20 Million Ton Output Expected This Year.

A substantial part of the 20 million tons of coal strip miners are expected to dig this year in Ohio will come from mine- using equipment manufactured by the Marion Power Shovel Co.

Commenting upon the statement by Stephen Williams, chief of the state division of mines, that the 20 million tonnage figure may be reached this year, company officials reported today that at the present time two 40 cubic yard stripping shovels are in use in the southeastern Ohio coal mine fields as well as a good number of smaller machines built by the company.

Move Dirt Rapidly

The big 40-cubic yard shovels are capable of stripping approximately 900,000 cubic yards of overburden per month and in some instances can lay bare as much as 100,000 tons of coal per month, company officials pointed out, adding that additional coal stripping machines are now on order and earmarked to go to stripping operations in eastern and southeastern Ohio.

The state division of mines chief based his estimate of coal production this year on the fact that about 200 operators have paid their annual $50 fee and bonds covering strip mining of coal from more than 4,000 acres of land in Ohio, The Associated Press reported

In 22 Counties

He said bonds covered operations in about 22 counties in eastern and southeastern Ohio extending from Columbiana county down the Ohio river valley as far as Athens county Bulk of the operations will be in Harrison county, he said.

Under a law that became effective Jan. 1, operators must cover exposed face of any unmined coal to a depth of at least three feet at the base of the pit, provide access roads and fire lanes to the stripped areas; seal off any break-through to underground workings; level off peaks and ridges of spoil banks to a minimum width of 5 feet across the top. Within a year after operations are terminated they must plant trees, shrubs or grass upon stripped lands at a cost of not more than $50 an acre.

To insure restoration of the land, the new law requires operators to file bonds of $100 an acre with a minimum bond in any one case of $1,000.

Because of the influence of the Japanese current, long sections of the coast of Alaska have temperatures that seldom fall below zero in winter.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE United Nations is for all its biggest drawing card this summer with the departure of Andrei Andreyevich Gromyko the "oldest young man in the world."

Lake Success won't be quite the same without the black-browed Russian delegate, a boy wonder of the diplomatic world. Perhaps no man has age in history ever said "no" on more major issues in so short a time.

Hal Boyle

He put his "noes" into the record so often that even the news chroniclers are mixed up in the box score. One morning newspaper here put the total at 23. Another credited him with 22 putouts and an assist from Andrei A. Vishinsky, who set the Soviet pattern with the first veto, delivered in London.

Gromyko — whose nickname "Grom" means "thunder" in his own language—merely announced he was going home to Moscow for his first vacation in three years. Other diplomats here believe, however, his departure may signal his elevation to an even higher policy-making status in the Soviet structure.

AT 38 GROMYKO already has behind him a brilliant career in world diplomacy, most of it spent in the United States He came here first in 1939 as counsellor to the Russian embassy in Washington. In 1943 he became ambassador himself, perhaps the youngest man—only 34—ever to represent a major power here

He replaced the veteran and friendly Maxim Litvinoff, and some observers at the time saw in his appointment a cooling of of the Soviet Union's relations toward the western powers. Little happened since to dispel that belief

Diligent and aloof, "the Grom" became a standout attraction of the United Nations sessions after the trek his famous walk during the security council's deliberation of the Iranian problem.

The first question nine out of 10 visitors to Lake Success asked was:

"Can we see Gromyko?"

And they also came to ask:

"Will he give a veto today?"

IT WAS ALWAYS AN occasion when he said no Sometimes he did it with a clipped "nyet." Sometimes he did it with a 40-minute address Delivered either in English or Russian, in a deep, bear-bass voice rumbling with a tone of ancient wrong.

Society matrons and bobby-soxers waylaid him in the corridors to get his autograph. These attentions at first annoyed, then began to amuse him—and at the same time vexed a number of delegates from other countries.

Gromyko's taciturnity thawed somewhat outside the council hall, but there was no relaxation of his iron mood in debate. He continued.

Suspicious and often cynical the American press, now and then has found newsmen assigned to the United Nations. Once, after he declined comment on several questions, a reporter said bitterly:

"Well, Mr Gromyko maybe can answer this. Where can I get some vodka"

Gromyko, who drinks tea and soda himself, smiled and said:

"In Brooklyn there is very good vodka."

THE SOVIET DEPUTY foreign minister has lived well. He has living quarters in a fashionable apartment house in Manhattan's upper East Side and also has a 42-acre mansion in Long Island given over by the Russian delegation.

Gromyko likes to read Mark Twain and also has become something of an American movie fan. His favorite film:

"Gone With the Wind."

Means that we're closer to our God
Standing beside our loved one's grave.
We wipe away our tears
And pray that God will help us
Through all our lonely years
We miss him how we miss him,
No one will ever know;
But some day we'll bid him goodmorning
In that beautiful city of gold.

NEUN TO USE "KIDS" AFTER LOSING 8TH

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 15 — Johnny Neun, frustrated field boss of Cincinnati's reverse-action Reds, plans to start "kid" pitchers in six or eight of the games on the current road trip"

The Redlegs' losing streak stretched to eight games here yesterday as Andy Pafko's eighth-inning home run gave the Chicago Cubs a 1-0 victory It was a disheartening setback for one of Neun's most promising youngsters, southpaw Kent Peterson, who allowed eight hits.

"Several of the older fellows, notably Tommy Hughes and Kenny Raffensberger, have proven to me that they can't win," Neun declared, and added:

"So I'm going to try to find four starters among Peterson, Red Lively, (Herman) Wehmeier, (Johnny) Vander Meer and that big guy from New Orleans, Walker Cress If I can get three of these fellows to go along with Vander Meer, who has pitched fine ball this spring, we'll battle our way out of the cellar in no time."

He nominated Wehmeier to start today's game with the Bruins

The Reds got only two men to second base as Russ Meyer, 21-year-old screwball specialist, fashioned a masterful four-hitter for this third victory.

28 Teams in Four Leagues Poised for Softball Openers Next Week

Church Loop Starts Monday With Twilight Games on Four Fields

Twenty-eight softball teams in four Marion leagues are poised today for the 1948 season openers scheduled next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights in four of the city's softball parks.

The eight-team Church league will break from the wire first when games will be played starting at 6:15 p. m. Monday on four fields—Garfield, McKinley, Harding and the new Eagles diamond.

The eight-team Commercial league will get off Tuesday night on the same four diamonds, Commercial league No. 2 will break Wednesday night and Commercial No. 1 will play its opener on Thursday night.

The two commercial leagues are six-team loops. Commercial No. 2 will use McKinley, Garfield and Fairfield diamonds and No. 1 will play on Garfield, McKinley and the Marion Power Shovel fields.

Monday's Schedule

Monday night's Church schedule will find Greenwood vs. St. Mary No. 1 at Garfield; Epworth-Methodist vs. St. Mary No. 2 at McKinley; Trinity Baptist vs. Forest Lawn at the Eagles field; and First Church of the Brethren vs. Oakland at Harding.

The Church and Commercial leagues will play two rounds, while the two Commercial leaguers will play three.

The Commercial circuit is composed of the Eagles Lodge, Company C National Guard, W. and W. Provision Co., Shanty Town Grill, Marion Metal Products, Farm Bureau, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Bird-McGinnis Post American Legion.

In Industrial league No. 2 are the Sohigans, Quaker Oats, Ohio Public Service, Ohio Associated Telephone, Osgood Co., and Oswalt Plumbing and Heating Co.

Industrial No. 1 is composed of Huber Manufacturing Co., Universal Cooler, Pollak Steel, Marion Power Shovel, Commercial Steel, and the Fairfield Engineering Co.

All Games at Twilight

All games are twilight games, starting at 6:15 p. m. until Aug. 1, when they will begin at 6 p. m.

Umpires assigned to the Monday night games are Wade Conkle and Lawrence Edgington at Garfield; Fred Ruhl and Bob Putman at McKinley; Ralph Scholtz and Oliver Haifhill at Eagles field; and Mel Lehner and Joe Ferriman at Harding, the first named umpire at each field being the umpire-in-chief.

Other umpires who will work in the four leagues are Ralph Roseberry, Elmer Smith, Fred Spurlock, Lawrence Weiss and Wes Wilcox.

Forest Lawn and Commercial Steel are the defending champions in the Church and Industrial leagues, but last year's Commercial league winner, Schlairet Transfer, is no longer in operation. W. and W. Provision has absorbed most of the Schlairet players.

The complete schedule of the four leagues follows. (Abbreviations: Gar., Garfield park; McK., McKinley park; Eg., Eagles field; Har., Harding field; M.P.S., Marion Power Shovel field; Fair., Fairfield Engineering Co. field.)

Marion Cubs Split With Muncie, Win 9-5, Lose 3-1

Vic Raschi Halts A's Streak At 10 with Three-Hit Shutout

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Athletics are just about convinced they can't get rank with Vic Raschi.

The lanky New York right-hander, who in the past two seasons had trimmed the Philadelphians three times, was called on yesterday by Manager Bucky Harris to snap off the turtle A's who barged into Yankee stadium with a 10-game winning streak.

Raschi came through in impressive fashion, shutting out the Athletics 3-0 on three hits. He walked only three and fanned seven, including the side in the ninth.

Gave but 4 Hits

Carl Scheib, a 21-year-old right-hander, yielded only four hits but two of the blows were homers by Johnny Lindell and Yogi Berra. The loss was Scheib's first in four starts.

The victory moved the Yanks to within four percentage points of the second place Cleveland Indians and a half game of the league-leading Athletics.

Another fine pitching job was turned in by Fred Sanford of the St. Louis Browns. Sanford planked the Tigers, 3-0, in Detroit on five singles. The Tigers now have lost their first six starts at home.

Excellent pitching also highlighted activity in the National league.

At Chicago, Russ Meyer spun a four-hitter in shutting out the Cincinnati Reds, 1-0. The win was his third and his second straight shutout. Andy Pafko homered for the lone run in the eighth inning off young Kent Peterson who gave up eight hits. The loss was the eighth in a row for the last place Reds.

Cards Nose Out Bucs

The St. Louis Cardinals nosed out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-1, in a night game at St. Louis with Stan Musial driving in both runs with a fourth inning homer off Fritz Ostermueller.

Lefty Howie Pollet went the route for the Cards and was in trouble almost every inning as the Pirates banged him for 10 singles.

The victory moved the Cardinals over the Pirates into second place, a half game behind the front-running New York Giants who along with the Philadelphia Phillies, Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians were idle.

Scheduled night games between the Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators were postponed because of rain.

Sports Shorts

By BILL DIEM
Star Sports Editor

THE MARION CUBS picked up a pair on rain last night in their battle for games played, but he who gives the rain, old Jupiter Pluvius, has been giving the locals a battle. The score now stands at Cubs 11, Rain 8.

The Cubs would have been yet another game ahead but for a misunderstanding.

One of the rained-out Portsmouth at Marion games was scheduled for the open date of last Monday and both clubs were ready to play, but Ohio-Indiana league President Frank Colley, who was in Marion Sunday to watch the Cubs slaughter Springfield, put the squelch on the deal, saying that he had word that Portsmouth had refused to play the make-up game.

Later in the week it developed that Portsmouth had called the game, and that the league prexy had bobbled the play somehow.

THAT DIDN'T make the locals any happier with Mr. Colley, whose business is writing sports for the Columbus Citizen.

They were still rankling over the telegram Colley had sent them after the game at Springfield earlier in the week in which Manager Bekeza and two players had been kicked off the park after an argument. That was the game in which Bekeza's hand was broken, too.

Colley, whose home town is Springfield, had informed the Cubs that Bekeza and two were fined $45, which was something of a jolt in itself, and had signed off the bad news with a flippant "Love and kisses, Frank Colley."

Cub President W. Dexter Hazen wrote back "the love is OK but the kiss is more like the kiss of Judas."

PITCHES PERFECT GAME—Allen Hayden, 15-year-old pitcher for the Bruce, Wis., Mott school baseball team, hurled a perfect seven-inning game as his team beat Cherokee, Wis., High school 6 to 0. (May 15). Hayden allowed no hits, no runs, and no opposing man reached first base. There were 17 strikeouts.

No Use Kidding, Citation Will Win

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, May 15—There's no use kidding, the 72nd running of the Preakness stakes at Pimlico today is going to find Citation home first or the records will have one of the greatest upsets in turf history.

The Calumet Farm colt rates so far above the other three contenders that any one who bets against him can be classified only as either a terrific gambler or sentimentalist. The trio containing upsets in their legs are Bovard, Vulcan's Force and Better Self.

The betting, incidentally, is all or nothing. The Maryland Racing commission agreed with Pimlico that Citation is such a "sure thing" that anything but straight betting would produce a terrific minus pool, costly to both the track and the state. From 35,000 to 40,000 fans are expected to witness the mile and three-sixteenths classic.

SPRINGFIELD TAKES LEAD IN O-I LEAGUE

Marion Drops Muncie to 3rd; Portsmouth Is 2nd.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 15—The Ohio-Indiana baseball league standings were mixed up like an omelet today, with the flying Springfield Giants atop the list.

Muncie, the deposed leader, rested in third place, a game behind second-place Portsmouth.

Only Marion in fourth place and Newark in the cellar stood in the same relative spot after last night's round of doubleheaders.

Springfield copped a double win from Newark, 3-1 and 5-4 while Muncie was splitting with Marion. Muncie took the first game, 3-1, but Marion came back with a 9-6 win in the afterpiece.

A's Win Twice

Portsmouth toppled Zanesville twice, 5-3 and 7-6, while Richmond was sneaking Lima, 3-2, in the night's only single game program.

Springfield had no trouble taking the first game against Newark last night behind the three-hit pitching of Leo Klaus. The Giants, however, had to stretch three safe blows in the nightcap into six runs. They were helped by Ray Berns' three-run homer in the third frame.

Portsmouth treated the fans to two workman-like victories over Zanesville, despite being outhit in both games. The home club could get only six hits off Manager Ray Hathaway of Zanesville in the first game, but took advantage of four Zanesville errors. In the second contest, Portsmouth collected 10 hits, good enough for the win, although Zanesville hitters poled an even dozen.

Richmond sewed up their victory over Lima in the first inning. Bob Heavern and Bob Fruciano each clubbed triples in a wild frame that produced all three Richmond runs. The game took only one hour, 54 minutes, fastest of the season at Richmond.

The line scores:

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Jesse Fierce, 155½, Stockton, Calif., and Johnny Williams, 140¾, Montgomery, Ala., drew, 10.

PHILADELPHIA — Dan Bercovich, 175, Philadelphia, knocked out Dick Lee, 188, New York, 1.

Peet Scatters 6 Hits in Losing; DeLuca Saves Pavkov's Victory

Special To The Star

MUNCIE, Ind., May 15—Muncie and Marion divided an Ohio-Indiana league doubleheader at McCulloch park Friday night. The Reds winning the seven-inning opener, 3 to 1, the Cubs grabbing the second contest, 9 to 5.

Lefty Larry Miller held Marion to four hits in the first game as the Reds "nailed" the decision with two runs in the third. Right of the uprising was Robert Nieman's home run over the left field wall with the bases empty. It was the Muncie boy's fourth circuit clout of the season.

On Even Terms

Miller and Peet were on fairly even terms throughout, the Marion hurler giving up six hits. Both teams scored a single run in the first stanza.

Si Pavkov, who shut out Muncie in the season's opener at Marion, had things much his own way through most of the night, too. The southpaw did not give up a hit until two were down in the fourth. Carl Bush unloaded a double into right center and Nieman popped a fluke single back of first which scored the Reds' first run.

Meanwhile, the Cubs poured off on three Muncie pitchers, building up an 8-to-0 lead. In the ninth, Pavkov lost some of his smoke, walking three men and giving up two hits. With three runs home, Manager Zeke Bekeza lifted Pavkov in favor of DeLuca. The latter pitched one ball. Nieman lined to the second baseman for the third out and the game was over.

Results Tumble Muncie

The results didn't affect the Cubs' fourth place standing in the class D loop, but tumbled the Muncie Reds from first to third in percentage points. Muncie, Portsmouth, and Springfield, however, are actually tied for the first place spot in games won and lost.

The Cubs leave for Newark today for a three-game series with the cellar-dwelling Yankees.

They'll play a single game tonight and a double-header Sunday afternoon.

After a lay-off Monday, the Cubs will meet the Zanesville Dodgers Tuesday and Wednesday nights before returning home.

Harding Ends Spring Sports Next Week With Track Meet, Two Baseball Games

Next week's sports calendar for Harding High school athletes features a pair of baseball games and a track meet as the spring sports program draws to a close.

The baseball nine closes with a contest with the Ashland A's Tuesday afternoon at Lincoln Park following a trip to Upper Sandusky to engage the Upper diamondmen Monday.

The runners journey to Upper Arlington to compete with the U-A boys and Grandview in a triangular field and track meet for their final contest.

Coach Somerlot's thinclads are in action today however, along with 13 other class A schools, in the Central District track meet being run on Selby field at Ohio Wesleyan university. Any team member placing first or second there will be eligible for the state meet a week from today at Ohio State university.

In the meeting with Upper Monday, Coach Howison's crew will be out to even the baseball records at five and five, having won victories over Waldo, Caledonia, Columbus North and Columbus East while going under to Mansfield twice and Ashland, Galion and Columbus St. Charles once.

The victories over North and East and loss to St. Charles all occurred in the Central District play-offs.

The Prexies were going great guns in the play-off until they ran short of hurlers at the same time they met the tough St. Charles combine, but even so they lost by the modest margin of one run.

Ashland will be trying to duplicate the score of the first game when they downed the Prexies 8-0 while the game with Upper Sandusky marks the teams' first meeting. The game with the A's was to have been played under the lights at Lincoln Park but due to the difference in Ashland time, the A's do not play night ball during the week.

The Prexy dash men have counted two wins and an equal number of losses in dual competition. They took verdicts from Delaware Willis and Galion and suffered reverses by Upper Sandusky and Columbus West.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting: Stan Musial, Cardinals—His two-run homer gave Cards 2 to 1 victory over Pirates.

Pitching: Vic Raschi, Yankees—Snapped Athletics' 10-game winning streak with three-hit shutout, 3-0.

BOUDREAU RELEASES CATCHER RAY MURRAY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 14 — The Cleveland Indians are going to be long on outfielders and short on catchers this year.

Manager Lou Boudreau whittled the roster down to only two catchers — one less than most major league clubs carry — when Ray Murray, promising rookie backstop, was optioned yesterday to Oklahoma City of the Texas league on a 24-hour recall basis.

Ray Murray
Only Two Left

Murray's departure left the Tribe only two players above the regulation 25-player limit, which must be met by next Wednesday midnight.

Boudreau will carry only Jim Hegan and Joe Tipton as his catching personnel, preferring to keep an extra outfielder among the group of eight fly chasers now on the roster. He has five infielders and 12 pitchers, two of whom probably will be released.

In winning the Southeastern conference football crown last autumn, Mississippi merely reversed the previous season's record—from a 1-6 mark in '46 to a 6-1 finish in '47.

Twin Cities' Battle Looms in Association

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis and St. Paul will cause a neighborhood fuss this weekend as they hook up in a Twin Cities' battle for the American Association leadership.

This afternoon, the sizzling Saints—in front by two games with a 20-8 listing—take on the second-spot Millers (18-10) in Minneapolis. Tomorrow, the Millers will visit St. Paul's Lexington park.

Milwaukee's tilt at St. Paul and Kansas City's stop at Minneapolis were rained out last night. Indianapolis took advantage of the Millers' idleness by whipping Toledo, 7-3, thus moving into a tie for second with Minneapolis.

In last night's only other contest, Louisville's Jack Gritfore tossed a six-hitter to give the Colonels a 6-1 decision over Columbus and wrest sixth place from Toledo.

SCHEDULE PRACTICE GAME

Sam's Nite Club and Haas Sandwich Shop will meet in a baseball practice game tomorrow at 1 p. m. on the M.P.S. diamond. Bob Hollaway will be on the mound for Sam's and Bob Higgins behind the plate, while Ed Roseberry will twirl for Haas and Dick Cramer will receive. All players are asked to be at the field at 12:30.

TO JOIN McMILLEN?

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., May 15 — Athletic Director John Tavener of Johnstown High school, Licking county, said yesterday he would resign at the close of school, May 19. The former Indiana university football star would not comment on reports he may join the Detroit Lions coaching staff under Alvin (Bo) McMillin, former Indiana coach.

NEWARK BASEBALL SCHOOL

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., May 15—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, New York Yankee scout, will direct a training school for baseball talent at Newark May 24, 25 and 26. Rookies showing promise will be offered opportunities in the Yankee farm system, the club said. Newark's entry in the class D Ohio-Indiana baseball league is a Yankee farm.

...ay will be a double feature, "The Fighting 69th" and "Valley of the Giants." The former stars James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Dennis Morgan, and heading the cast in the latter is Wayne Morris. Both are playing return engagements.

"The Fighting 69th" tells of a hard-boiled rookie in the Army who rebels at army discipline. Only Father Duffy, played by Pat O'Brien, is able to do anything with him. The action moves from early camp training days to Europe.

"Valley of the Giants" is filmed against a background of the redwood forest in California and tells the story of Eastern promoters trying to swindle the hill folk out of their possessions.

DANA ANDREWS AND GENE TIERNEY are the co-stars of the picture, "The Iron Curtain," drama of modern espionage and international intrigue, which is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

Irene Dunne Stars In "I Remember Mama"

"I Remember Mama,' a comedy drama of a courageous family which co-stars Irene Dunne, Barbara Bel Geddes, Oscar Homolka and Philip Dorn, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Palace theater.

Set against a background of San Francisco in 1910, 'I Remember Mama" is the tale of a devoted Norway-born mother who shrewdly pilots her family and close relatives through the financial crisis in their lives. Irene Dunne as "Mama" of the title and as head of her household, leads her family through many troubles, guides a romance to the altar, arranged her daughter's career, puts the family budget into working order and keeps the morale of all concerned.

Featured in the film are Sir Cedric Hatwicke, Edgar Bergen, Rudy Vallee and Barbara O'Neill. 'I Remember Mama' is based on John Van Drutens play of the same name and Kathryn Forbes novel "Mama's Bank Account."

Playing Wednesday and Thursday will be 'The Mating of Millie" starring Glenn Ford and Evelyn Keyes.

A comedy romance, "The Mating of Millie" is the story of a girl who needs a husband quickly for a very strange reason, and of a young man who doesn't object to marriage as long as it doesn't happen to him. Evelyn Keyes, as a department store executive, wants to adopt an orphan but can't until she finds a husband. A floorwalker in the store, played by Glenn Ford, is the first one she tries to lure into a convenient marriage. He likes his freedom too much to fall in with her plans, but promises to help her snare a mate.

A double feature, "Magic Town" starring James Stewart and Jane Wyman, and "Mr Reckless" with William Eythe and Barbara Britton, will be shown Friday and Saturday.

"Magic Town' tells of the efforts of a young man from the big city to forestall a pretty young newspaperwoman's plans to promote her home town out of character as a cross-section of American thought.

Adventure Mystery Picture at Marion

"Saigon," a thrilling mystery-adventure, and "If Winter Comes," a dramatic production, have been billed as the double feature to be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the Marion theater.

Starring Alan Ladd and Veronica Lake, "Saigon" tells of three ex-Army fliers, one of them living on borrowed time, who take on a mysterious flight from Shanghai to Saigon in order to get enough money to give the doomed man an exciting last few months. They become involved in a money-smuggling plot and with a secretive blonde.

"If Winter Comes" stars Walter Pidgeon, Deborah Kerr and Angela Lansbury and tells the story of a man who is made the victim of small town gossip.

Billed as a double feature for Wednesday and Thursday are "Sundown" starring Gene Tierney, and "The Kansan" with Richard Dix.

Friday and Saturday, the films will be "Killer Dill" and "Partners of the Sunset." The former stars Stuart Erwin, and heading the cast in the latter are Jimmy Wakely and Jennifer Holt.

Joy Theater Shows "Alexander's Band"

"Alexander's Ragtime Band" starring Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche has been billed as the attraction for Sunday and Monday at the Joy theater located in Oakland Heights and formerly known as the Oakland theater.

Tuesday through Thursday, the picture will be "Fun on a Weekend" with Eddie Bracken and Priscilla Lane.

A double feature, "Susie Steps Out" and "Flashing Guns," will be the attractions Friday and Saturday. The former stars David Bruce and Cleatus Caldwell, and heading the east in the latter are Johnny Mack Brown and Raymond Hatton.

WILL TELL VETERANS OF SHODDY HOUSES

Administration Plans Aid to GI Home Buyers.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, May 15—The Veterans administration has disclosed a plan to tip off in advance any GI home buyer about to sign up for a shoddy house.

Starting June 1, each prospective GI home buyer will get a plain-spoken letter from a VA appraiser. It will advise him—ahead of time—if the roof leaks, the furnace is bad or water collects in the cellar.

Veterans administrator Carl R Gray Jr., set up the plan in an apparent reversal of his announcement two months ago that the veterans agency no longer could nurse-maid veteran home buyers.

Gray said then that VA guarantees the loan on a home—not the house itself.

To Prevent "Gypping"

VA Loan Director T B King said the new program is "a significant change" from previous practice. He denied, however, it was a reversal of policy.

"What we are trying to do here is head off the veteran's complaint that he was gypped," King said. "In most cases, it still is true that there is little we can do for him once he has bought the house."

King said the new plan will apply to what he calls "existing" houses. This means any house that VA did not supervise from the ground up. That covers more than half the houses now being sold under government - guaranteed GI loans.

Houses built under GI loans already are watched by VA during construction. King said they won't require the extra protection. In these cases, VA already insists that the builder follow his plans and that he make good on any departure from his blueprints.

Under the new plan, the VA appraiser no longer will seek merely a "reasonable price," on a house. He will, in addition, detail its weaknesses and send his report to the nearest VA office.

To Write of What's Wrong

He also will write to the veteran, King said, and in "layman's language" tell him what's wrong with the house if the vete...n still wants to buy it or sign up for it.

VA meantime may lose out the appraiser's figure as a set to what is fair value on a house.

"This will give us for the first time actually full control over the appraiser's action," King asserted.

King's earlier announcement touched off loud complaints from veterans groups and others. Prior to that time, it had been VA policy to help a veteran get satisfaction when he said he had been gypped.

New York Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, May 15—Heavy buying lifted leading stocks fractions to a point or more today in a strong continuation of the bull market which got under full steam yesterday.

The ticker tape fell behind as much as seven minutes for a lengthy interval shortly after the opening. Blocks running to 21,000 shares changed hands. Advances were well maintained in the majority of cases near the final hour.

Belief that Friday's sharpest bulge since late 1946 indicated a bull swing was under way inspired further bidding. Brokers said that orders came in from all parts of the country.

Business optimism, based partly on inflationary psychology, remained as a strong prop for sentiment. Strikes, labor disputes and diplomatic wrangles failed to chill the speculative and investment urge.

COUNTY'S ARMY DAY OBSERVANCE PRAISED

Given No. 1 Rating in Comment at Headquarters.

The handling of Marion county's Army day parade and the interest shown by civilians has been highly commended by the Ohio Military District Second Army in charge of all military troops in the state. The work of the Marion advisory committee received high praise from Col. John E. McMahon Jr., of the district headquarters for their outstanding work.

Taking into consideration the size of the city, the parade, the officer commented, was the best in the state, from a standpoint of management, staging and attendance. Around 25,000 persons wit-

The advisory committee is headed by John H. Mills, chairman. Equipment and arrangements for the military personnel, marching units, etc were in charge of Capt. John B Weaver, Unit instructor and his staff.

The observance of Army day in Ohio was described as "the most outstanding that I have seen," by Col. McMahon. He called attention to the splendid work and cooperation of the military and civilians and praised the great interest manifested by the civilian population in the work of the Army.

Replica of Iwo Jima In Display at Ashley

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, May 15—With Poppy day, May 22, just ahead, Robert Curren, Ashley business man, has made and arranged a display in his front window that has been attracting attention. The background is a replica of Iwo Jima, with its irregular terrain, its fortifications and its wrecked planes lying against the sides of the mountain. This is done in plaster paris tinted naturally. At the west end of the window, the theme is "Aid the Disabled," showing the patient making poppies, the nurse, the patients in hospital beds, etc. The east end theme is "Honored Dead." Four miniature white crosses are crowned with evergreen wreaths and at the front a wreath of poppies. At the center back, hangs a painting of "Flag Raising at Iwo Jima" (it is said that a former Ashley youth, Bert Perkins, was in the background when the picture was made). The entire scene is decorated with small flags. Many who have seen the display have expressed their appreciation.

POLICE CALLED AS WITNESSES

Marion Officers Go To Jackson, Michigan, in Auto Theft Trial.

Two Marion police officers went to Jackson, Mich., this week to assist officers of that city in putting the finishing touches on a case which started with two arrests for intoxication on Center street last January and wound up by sending two Michigan ex-convicts back to Southern State prison at Jackson, Mich., to serve one to five years for auto theft.

The Marion officers who took part in the case were Captain E. C. Mackan and Patrolman Thomas Coon with an assist by Patrolman Floyd Wilson.

At 2:25 a. m. Jan. 28 Patrolman Coon arrested Raymond Ira Harbart, 36, of Ecourse, Mich., on a charge of intoxication and for investigation. At the time of his arrest Harbart was sitting in a parked car in front of Mayle's Jewelry store on West Center street in a car bearing a Michigan license. Harbart was lodged in city jail and the car placed in a local garage.

Second Arrest

At 5:17 a. m the same morning Patrolman Wilson arrested Clair Ray Tompkins, 35, of Jackson, Mich., on East Center street on charges of intoxication and for investigation. Police did not suspect any connection between the two arrests at the time.

Later the same day Captain E. C. Mackan questioned both men. Harbart refused to talk but after a lengthy session of questioning Tompkins confessed that he and Harbart had arrived in Marion together from Jackson Mich. A check with Michigan State police revealed the car driven by Harbart had been stolen in Jackson Jan 28.

Both men pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication here, were fined $10 and costs in municipal court, and then were returned to city jail on charges of car theft.

Local police summoned FBI officers who investigated the case and checked facts gleaned from questioning the men here against facts discovered in an investigation by Jackson, Mich., police. This check revealed Tompkins to be violating a parole from Southern State prison at Jackson, where he had been paroled after serving part of a sentence for forgery.

Returned To Prison

Guards from Southern State prison came to Marion Feb 21 and returned Tompkins to the prison to serve out 10 months on his previous sentence while awaiting trial. On March 11 Jackson police came here to return Harbart to Jackson to face charges of car theft.

Both men were placed on trial for car theft on May 12 and Captain Mackan and Patrolman Coon were called to Jackson to testify at the trial. Harbart had entered a not guilty plea to the car theft charge and was to face a common pleas judge for trial. Upon seeing the Marion officers enter the court room he directed his attorney to change his plea to guilty. He was sentenced to serve one to five years in Southern State prison for car theft.

Tompkins elected to have a jury trial and both Captain Mackan and Patrolman Coon were called to the stand to testify in behalf of the state. Both Marion officers were congratulated by the presiding judge for the completeness of the evidence they presented. Tompkins was also sentenced to serve one to five years in Southern State prison for car theft.

HOME CIRCLE MEETS

The Past Presidents club of Marion Circle No. 184, Protected Home Circle met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry England of 747 Windsor street, Thursday night for a "topsy turvey" party. Costumes were worn inside out and upside down and refreshments were pancakes, waffles and sausage. For the party, held in the basement, the decorations were suggestive of July 4, Christmas, Halloween and Easter. Isaac Eaton, Mrs. Clarice England and Mrs. Alma Anderson received honors for original ideas. In a contest the prize was won by C. I. Smithson. For entertainment tables were arranged for euchre.

JAMES MASON, born May 15, 1909, in Huddersfield, York-shire, is one of England's foremost actors, and is known to millions of American movie fans. In 1946 he received the "Silver Star" statuette (corresponding to the Hollywood "Oscar") in the first national film award for British Pictures. Marlborough Church Having Rites May 31

ASHLEY, May 15 — Those in charge of services at Marlborough Primitive Baptist church say this will be the last Decoration day service on the spot that is considered by many as a shrine. These annual Memorial day services have been held for the last 40 years, often even before an association was formed and officers chosen. This year the graves will be decorated at 9:30 a. m. Monday, May 31, and the programs will follow in the church at 10 o'clock. Rev. Russell Hoy, state grange chaplain, will speak, and a concert by Ashley school band will be given Hugh Bishop of Radnor is president of the Marlborough association. The committee, consisting of Mrs. Lois Elliott, Mrs. Pauline Weiser and Mrs. Laura Ellen Parks met at the home of the latter this week.

At Westfield, where the decoration of graves and a program in the church has been the custom for many years, definite plans are being made by a committee.
